This catalogue accompanies an exhibition of furniture by r e i d w o o d in Plettenberg Bay.
The exhibition also features art, lighting and fabric. It is currently on display at the the Yellowwoods Courtyard on Main Street.

THE STORY

Reidwood opened its doors in Johannesburg, in 1993, in a dodgy inner-city zone near Ellis Park, where Victoria Yards is now. The area attracted small businesses, craft, skilled trades, and artists plus others with more dubious careers.

We moved the factory to Plettenberg Bay in 2001, drawn by the timber and furniture traditions of the area. Here our focus shifted from furniture manufacture to customised interior installations. For a sample of these please visit our website: www.reidwood.co.za

The exhibition is a mixture of styles, timber and material. It reflects, not only our design and skill but the input of our clients, furniture designers and architects, to whom we are indebted. There are two additional influences, namely our collective heritage or culture and the history of manufacture. And lest we forget it, the wood itself. In this collection we trust there are one or two pieces that resonate as you walk around. The influence of Reidwood, where it was possible, has been to direct design toward sound workmanship, ergonomics, proportion, the feel and lastly of course, the eye-candy element; it has to look good! Wood, metal, stone, fabric are all sensuous, valuable, renewable but threatened resources. We hope that the pieces here convey some of the treasure.

ORDERING WORK

If you select a piece on exhibition which has been sold, we do have stock of some items, so please ask us. If however they have been sold please ask us to quote. Finally, if you have any projects on the boil and would like Reidwood to be involved, please speak to Patrick.
